Adult Body Mass Index (BMI)

What Is BMI?

Body Mass Index (BMI) is a calculated score based on a person's weight and height. People who score in the underweight, overweight or obese category based on their BMI score are more likely to have health problems due to their weight. However, BMI does not show how much body fat a person has on their body. Nor does it show a person's actual risk for health problems due to their weight.

BMI is an easy way to screen for weight problems in adults age 20 years or older. BMI is translated differently for children and teens, and is shown as a percentile ranking based on age and gender.

What Does My BMI Score Mean?

BMI score places a person into one of four main groups – underweight, normal, overweight or obese.

Body Mass Index Categories
BMI	Weight Category
Below 18.5	Underweight
18.5-24.9	Normal
25.0-29.9	Overweight
30 and above	Obese

For example, a high BMI does not always mean that a person has too much fat mass or will develop health problems related to their weight. Instead, additional assessments should be done. This might include skinfold thickness measurement, review of diet and physical activity, personal and family history and other health screenings.

What Is My Ideal BMI?

Your ideal BMI is personal to you. The BMI score is based on a healthy adult. Age, ethnic background, personal and family history, diet, and exercise should be considered when determining your ideal BMI. Talk to your doctor about your ideal BMI.
